🏛 Lecture Hall & Tutorial Complex (LHTC) — IIITDM Jabalpur

📌 Location & Campus Layout

The LHTC serves as the core academic area, alongside the Core Lab Complex (CLC), within the ~260-acre IIITDM Jabalpur campus in Dumna. It also houses the Design Studio as well as faculty cabins for Natural Sciences (NS) and Liberal Arts (LA) disciplines, and hosts lecture halls and tutorial rooms .

🛠 Facilities & Uses

LHTC contains all standard classrooms and lecture halls, which are also used as exam venues. Its infrastructure includes modern audio-visual (AV) aids to support teaching—projectors, PA systems, and soundproof or acoustically treated spaces .

It includes faculty offices and departmental cabins for NS and LA disciplines, plus the Institute's Design Studio, tying academic spaces and creative design under one roof .

🌿 Campus Integration & Environment

Positioned in the greener academic cluster, the LHTC is surrounded by open lawns and landscaped spaces that enhance the campus's appeal. Also located —just outside—is an Open Air Theatre in front of the LHTC, used regularly for cultural events and student activities .

👩‍🎓 Student & Event Engagement

Major academic events like workshops, presentations, and administrative interviews (e.g., JRF recruitment) are held in LHTC. For instance, project interviews scheduled in 2023 and earlier used LHTC facilities .

Social and design showcases—such as a Design Projects Open House (Jan 31, 2025)—took place in the LHTC, integrating academic presentations with public engagement .

📋 At-a-Glance Summary

Feature   Description

Primary Function   Academic complex for lectures, seminars, tutorials, and exams

Facilities AV-equipped lecture halls, faculty cabins, Design Studio

Users   Mainly NS & LA faculty/students; used for institute-wide events

Adjacent Space   Open Air Theatre & landscaped lawns for events and aesthetics

Events Organized   Design showcases, recruitment interviews, workshops, evaluations in LHTC

Campus Integration   Located centrally in academic cluster, easily accessible with well-planned flow

✅ Why LHTC Matters

It's the academic heart of the institute, housing lecture rooms, tutorial spaces, and faculty offices in one integrated structure.

Equipped for modern teaching with AV technologies and multipurpose hall setups.

Supports both daily academic functions and institutional events, making it a dynamic, multi-use space.

🏗️ Core Lab Complex (CLC) — IIITDM Jabalpur

📍 Overview & Academic Role

The Core Lab Complex (CLC), constructed as part of Phase I on the IIITDM Jabalpur campus, was completed around June 2009 and functions as a central hub for academic laboratories and engineering disciplines .

It is situated adjacent to the Lecture Hall & Tutorial Complex (LHTC) within the academic cluster and houses labs, faculty cabins, and departmental infrastructure for technical branches like Electronics, Mechanical Engineering, and Smart Manufacturing .

🧪 Facilities & Departmental Hub

Contains a variety of specialized laboratories, depending on department:

Mechanical Engineering & Smart Manufacturing labs for prototyping, fabrication, and design-related research.

Electronics & Communication Engineering (ECE) labs focused on signal processing, RF, microelectronics, and control systems.

Natural Sciences labs (ground floor) support interdisciplinary research in physics, mathematics, materials science, and computational science .

Faculty cabins for ECE, Mechanical, and other technical departments are embedded within the CLC building .

🌿 Architectural & Campus Integration

Visually similar in scale and structure to the adjoining LHTC, CLC reflects IIITDMJ's early architectural design style, set among green landscapes and open campus areas .

The building's location strategically divides academic zones from residential clusters, often highlighted alongside the campus's graffiti wall during the Techno-Design fest Abhikalpan .

📋 Summary Table

Feature	Description
Primary Purpose	Academic labs and faculty cabins primarily for technical and engineering disciplines
Completion Year	Phase I completed in June 2009
Departments Housed	Mechanical, Smart Manufacturing, ECE, Natural Sciences
Facilities	Prototyping labs, signal labs, computational and science labs
Building Placement	Adjacent to LHTC; part of academic cluster in central campus
Campus Setting	Landscaped surroundings; visually consistent with LHTC architecture

---

✅ Why CLC Matters

It is the engineering and design backbone of IIITDMJ, enabling hands-on lab-based learning and interdisciplinary research.

Supports core departments with purpose-built infrastructure for fabrication, electronics, signal processing, materials, and computational science.

Works in synergy with LHTC and campus facilities to create a cohesive academic environment.
